

Contents

Preface to the Third Edition	ix
Preface to the Second Edition	x

1 Film Structure 1

Elements of Film Structure	3
The Production Process	3
The Role of the Director	4
Time and Space in Cinema	8
Structure and the Camera	10
Camera Position	10
Camera Angle	17
Camera Lens	22
Camera Movement	28
Structural Design and Creative Choice	35
The Camera and Human Perception: Cinema's Dual Capability	39
Transforming Visual Reality	39
Corresponding with Visual Reality	40
Summary	44

2 Cinematography 46

Collaboration and Previsualization	48
------------------------------------	----

The Essentials of Cinematography	49
Film Stocks, Lenses, and Aspect Ratios	52
Lighting Design	60
Cinematography and the Digital Domain	74
Visual Style and Design Quotations	77
Summary	80

3 Production Design and Performance Style 83

What the Production Designer Does	84
Basic Tools of Production Design	87
Costumes	88
Sets, Mattes, and Miniatures	91
The Design Concept	96
Production Design and Special Effects	101
Acting	102
Acting in Film and Theater	104
Categories of Film Performers	108
Method and Technical Approaches to Performing	112
The Performer as an Element of Visual Design	114
Performance, Emotion, and the Viewer's Response	122
Summary	124

4 Editing: Making the Cut 126

What Is Editing?	128
Linear and Nonlinear Systems	128
Types of Visual Transitions	129
Functions of Editing	134
Continuity	134
Dramatic Focus	135
Tempo and Mood	136
Narration and Point of View	137

The Principles of Continuity Editing	147
A Continuous Flow of Action	147
Errors of Continuity	155
Facilitating the Viewer's Response	156
Subverting Continuity Editing	156
Alternatives to Continuity Editing	158
Jump Cuts	158
Montage	159
Sequence Shots	168
Summary	169

5 Principles of Sound Design 171

Evolution of Film Sound	173
Types of Sound	177
Dialogue	177
Sound Effects	181
Music	184
Sound Design	194
Differences between Sound and Image	195
The Codes of Sound Design	197
Summary	211

6 The Nature of Narrative in Film 213

Story and Script	215
The Turn to Narrative in Early Film History	216
Elements of Narrative	220
The Fictive Stance	220
Narrative Structure: Story and Plot	222
Authorship and Point of View	229
The Classical Hollywood Narrative	233
Alternatives to the Classical Narrative	236
The Viewer's Contribution to Narrative	240
Film Genres	243
The Western	244

The Gangster Film	248
The Musical	252
The Horror Film	255

Summary	259
---------	-----

7 Modes of Screen Reality 261

Realism	263
Ordinary Fictional Realism	263
Historical Realism	267
Documentary Realism	270
Expressionism	274
Classic German Expressionism	274
Contemporary Expressionism	277
Fantasy and the Fantastic	283
Ways of Making Fantasy Credible	284
Fantasy and Cinema Technology	286
Cinematic Self-Reflexivity	290
Comic Self-Reflexivity	290
Didactic Self-Reflexivity	292
Impact on Viewers of Self-Reflexive Techniques	296
Summary	297

8 Hollywood International 299

The Global Dominance of Hollywood	301
The Majors	301
Splitting the Box-Office Dollar	304
Ancillary Markets	306
Film and Product Merchandising	309
Economic Significance of the Blockbuster Film	314
International Influence of Hollywood Style	318
Influence on Foreign Filmmakers	318
Absorption of Foreign Filmmakers	320
Remakes of Foreign Films	322
Summary	329

9 The Cinema in an International Frame 331

The International Auteur Cinema	333
Michelangelo Antonioni	333
Ingmar Bergman	338
Luis Buñuel	343
Federico Fellini	347
Akira Kurosawa	349
Cinema and Society: The New Wave Phenomenon	353
Italian Neorealism	353
The French New Wave	358
New German Cinema	364
Hong Kong Cinema	370
Importance of the International Cinema	373
Summary	374

10 Film Criticism and Interpretation 376

Why Criticism Exists	377
The Task of the Critic	379
Criticism as Rhetoric	379
Criticism in the Era of Blockbusters	379
Modes of Criticism	380
Newspaper and Television Reviewing	380
General-Interest Journal-Based Criticism	382
Scholarly Criticism	385
Creating Criticism	389
Identification and Description	389
Working Deductively	389
Using Precise Terminology	391
Interpretation	392
Revealing Latent Meaning	392
Creating a Framework of Interpretation	393
Attributional Errors	396
The Steps in Creating Criticism	398
Summary	398

11	Models of Film Theory	401
	Realist Models	403
	Elements of Realist Theory: Bazin	403
	Strengths of Bazinian Realism	406
	Weaknesses of Bazinian Realism	407
	Other Realist Models	408
	Auteurist Models	408
	Elements of Auteurism	409
	Strengths of the Auteur Model	411
	Weaknesses of the Auteur Model	411
	Psychoanalytic Models	412
	Elements of Psychoanalytic Models	413
	Strengths of the Psychoanalytic Model	416
	Weaknesses of the Psychoanalytic Model	416
	Ideological Models	417
	Elements of Ideological Models	418
	Strengths of the Ideological Model	423
	Weaknesses of the Ideological Model	424
	Feminist Models	426
	Elements of Feminist Models	426
	Strengths of the Feminist Model	429
	Weaknesses of the Feminist Model	429
	Cognitive Models	429
	Elements of Cognitive Models	430
	Strengths of the Cognitive Model	433
	Weaknesses of the Cognitive Model	434
	Summary	435
	Glossary	437
	Index	451