

TABLE OF CONTENTS

EDITOR'S NOTE	11
NOTE ON METHODOLOGY	13
PART ONE
FICTION IN IBERO-AMERICA IN 2008
Comparative synthesis of the participating countries in 2008	19
Guillermo Orozco Gómez and Maria Immacolata Vassallo de Lopes
1. Quantitative comparison of fiction in Ibero-American countries	19
2. The most prominent fact of the year within Ibero-american countries	44
3. 2008, a decisive year for television fiction	48
4. Increase in fiction production and exhibition	51
5. From culture merchandising in television fiction to fiction merchandising in Ibero-American culture	53
6. Advertising, theme of the year	55
PART TWO
THE COUNTRY IN FICTION
1. Argentina – Crisis and renovation from the margins	61
Gustavo Aprea and Mónica Kirchheimer

1.1. The audiovisual context in Argentina	61
1.2. Analysis of the year: the national and Ibero-American fiction	69
1.3. The 10 most-watched titles	83
1.4. The highlights of the year	88
1.5. This year's theme: advertising in the television fiction	93
2. Brazil – On the threshold of new paths	98
Maria Immacolata Vassallo de Lopes
2.1. The audiovisual context in Brazil	98
2.2. Analysis of the year: the Brazilian and Ibero- American television fiction	116
2.3. The 10 most-watched titles	132
2.4. The highlights of the year	140
2.5. Theme of the year: advertising in fiction TV productions	146
3. Chile – Development and fiction spaces on television	155
Valerio Fuenzalida, Pablo Julio Pohlhammer, Constanza Aguirre, Constanza Mujica and Verónica Silva
3.1. The audiovisual context in Chile	155
3.2. Analysis of the year: premiere fiction from Chile and Ibero-America	161
3.3. The 10 most-watched titles	167
3.4. The highlights of the year	173
3.5. The theme of 2009: advertising	183
4. Mexico – The increasing publicity of fiction and its stars	190
Guillermo Orozco Gómez, Francisco Hernández and Alejandro Huizar
4.1. The Mexican audiovisual context in 2008	191

4.2. A study of the year's highlights: television fiction production and broadcast in Mexico in 2008	195
4.3. The 10 most-watched fiction titles	206
4.4. The year's highlights for fiction	213
4.5. Topic of the year 2009: advertising in television fiction	221
5. Portugal – 2008, the year of consolidation	229
Isabel Ferin and Catarina Duff Burnay
5.1. The audiovisual context of the country	230
5.2. Analysis of the year: the fiction of the country and Ibero-America	238
5.3. The 10 most-watched titles	249
5.4. The most highlighted of the year	259
5.5. The year's theme: the advertisement in television fiction	262
6. Spain – The transition to the new digital era	266
Charo Lacalle
6.1. The audiovisual context in Spain	267
6.2. Analysis of the year: the Spanish and Ibero-American fiction	271
6.3. The 10 most-watched titles	286
6.4. The highlights of the year	293
6.5. Advertising	300
7. United States – New actors and new scenes in the field of Latin television in the United States	303
Juan Piñón and Viviana Rojas
7.1. The audiovisual context of the United States	304
7.2. American and Ibero-American fiction: an analysis for the year	311
7.3. The 10 most-watched national production titles	325
7.4. The year's hit	333
7.5. Year's topic: advertising and television fiction	335

8. Uruguay – Television fiction on the Uruguayan TV: composition and consumption trends	343
Rosario Sánchez Vilela
8.1. The audiovisual context	343
8.2. Analysis of open television fiction in Uruguay . . .	348
8.3. The 10 most-watched titles	356
8.4. The year's highlights	370
8.5. This year's theme: advertising in the television fiction	372