

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments .....	xi
Foreword— Edward T. Hall .....	xiii
Introduction
1 The Challenge of Observation and the Nature of Photography .....	5
—The Image with a Memory
—The Camera as a Research Tool
2 The Camera in the Field .....	15
3 Orientation and Rapport .....	19
—Social Orientation
—The Photographer: A Participant Observer
—Photography and Rapport
4 Photographing the Overview: Mapping and Surveying .....	29
—Mapping
—The Photographic Shape of Community Designs
—Photographic Surveys

5	The Cultural Inventory .....	45
	—The Vicos Inventory
	—The Relocation Study
6	Photographing Technology.....	65
7	Photographing Social Circumstance and Interaction.....	77
	—Social Relationships
	—Observations of Social Relationships
	—Social Interaction and Process
8	Interviewing with Photographs .....	99
	—An Example of the Use of Photographs in Interviews
	—How Photographs Function in Interviewing
	—A Photo Essay Approach to Photo-Interviewing
	—Photo-Interviewing in Pre-literate Cultures
9	Psychological Significance and Overtones of Visual Imagery in Projective Interviewing.....	117
	—The Position of Photographs in the Scale of Projective Tools
10	Risks to Rapport in Photographing Probing.....	133
11	Film and Video .....	139
	—What Happens When the Image Moves
12	Film and Video in Field Research.....	145
	—Considerations in Field Recording
13	Ethnographic Film and Its Relationship to Film for Research .....	151
	—Are Anthropological Films Distorted and Unreliable Records?
	—How Impartial Is the Ethnographic Record
	—Alternative Models
	—How Can Films be Made from the Inside Out?

—Visual Anthropology's Contribution to Ethnographic Film
14 Principles of Visual Research .....	161
—Basic Considerations in Visual Research
—Researchable Visual Data
—The Range of Photographic Recording
—The Organization of Research
—The Significance of Open Observation
—Structured Research
—Analysis
—Designs for Analysis
—The Order of Analytic Activity
15 Analysis of Still and Moving Images.....	175
—Organizing the Data
—Open Viewing Procedures
—Structured Analysis
—Microanalysis
16 Practical Procedures in Analysis .....	185
—Organizing Mapping and Survey Photographs
—Inventories and Social Process
—Logging Film and Video
—Counting and Measuring
—Mass Files
—Sound and Images
—Team Analysis
17 Finding Patterns and Meaning .....	195
—Making Comparisons
—Creative and Artistic Approaches
18 Making Conclusions.....	203
19 Technical Considerations in Visual Anthropology.....	207
—Some Crucial Factors
—The Relationship of Photographic Skill to Rapport
—Cameras for Anthropology
—Motion Picture Cameras

—Visual Anthropology's Contribution to Ethnographic Film
14 Principles of Visual Research .....	161
—Basic Considerations in Visual Research
—Researchable Visual Data
—The Range of Photographic Recording
—The Organization of Research
—The Significance of Open Observation
—Structured Research
—Analysis
—Designs for Analysis
—The Order of Analytic Activity
15 Analysis of Still and Moving Images.....	175
—Organizing the Data
—Open Viewing Procedures
—Structured Analysis
—Microanalysis
16 Practical Procedures in Analysis .....	185
—Organizing Mapping and Survey Photographs
—Inventories and Social Process
—Logging Film and Video
—Counting and Measuring
—Mass Files
—Sound and Images
—Team Analysis
17 Finding Patterns and Meaning .....	195
—Making Comparisons
—Creative and Artistic Approaches
18 Making Conclusions.....	203
19 Technical Considerations in Visual Anthropology .....	207
—Some Crucial Factors
—The Relationship of Photographic Skill to Rapport
—Cameras for Anthropology
—Motion Picture Cameras

- Super-8 Equipment for Field Research
- Video Equipment
- Technical Issues in Panoramic Studies
- Problems of Portraiture
- Sound with Still Photographs
- Technology in Action
- Photographing with Little or No Light
- How Reliable Is Flash
- Problems of Heat and Cold
- Photographic Processing in the Field
- The Photographic File

References

Index